Mr. Ibrahim was born in Lahat South Sumatra on December 16, 1965. He earned his diploma degree, bachelor of accounting, and master of fiscal administration in Jakarta.

Since he graduated, he joined the Ministry of Finance as Tax Auditor. His first assignment was as a Junior assistant Auditor at Special Tax Audit. He took part in pioneering the modernization of DGT. In 2002, he signed in and was accepted at the Large Tax Office I, Jakarta. He was responsible for auditing compliance of taxpayers. Focus of the examination were top-ranked companies in Indonesia. He later worked at the Foreign Investment Tax Office 1 in 2007. Many taxpayers under this office have cross border transactions, partly with their affiliate. The auditor has to decide whether cross border transactions comply with the principle of arm's length. Some taxpayers use tax-haven countries to reduce their tax liabilities. As a tax auditor, his responsibility is to combat the use of abusive tax havens transaction to maintain the level of taxpayer compliance.

In 2012, he became a Senior Auditor at Directorate of Tax Audit and Collection. In this position, he continued examining big companies to ensure they complied with tax regulations. Evaluating arm's length principle of cross border transaction is also done because most of auditees are multinational enterprises (MNEs). He also joined technical assistance program on transfer pricing risk analysis. The program was for account representatives and auditors in tax offices that have many cases in transfer pricing issues. I was later appointed to be a trainer in Tax Audit Training, In house Training, etc. he later joined discussions with peers, Heads of Section, Deputies Director, and the Director regarding dealing with audit jobs nationally.
