The ETF's partner countries

What does the ETF do to support teachers and trainers?

Central Asia School development project

Continuing professional development of vocational teachers

Industry placements for teachers

Montenegro

Lessons learned from Montenegro

Teachers and employers will engage in new experiences if they believe that they have real value and interest

The ETF should insist upon a partnership approach if it wants to maximise impact.

Tools, delegation of responsibilities to schools and formal national recognition can support sustainability

Ministerial ownership facilitates rapid roll out and a high media profile.

Training vocational teachers as digital instructors

Turkey

Lessons learned from Turkey

An individual school can lead a high-quality professional development programme

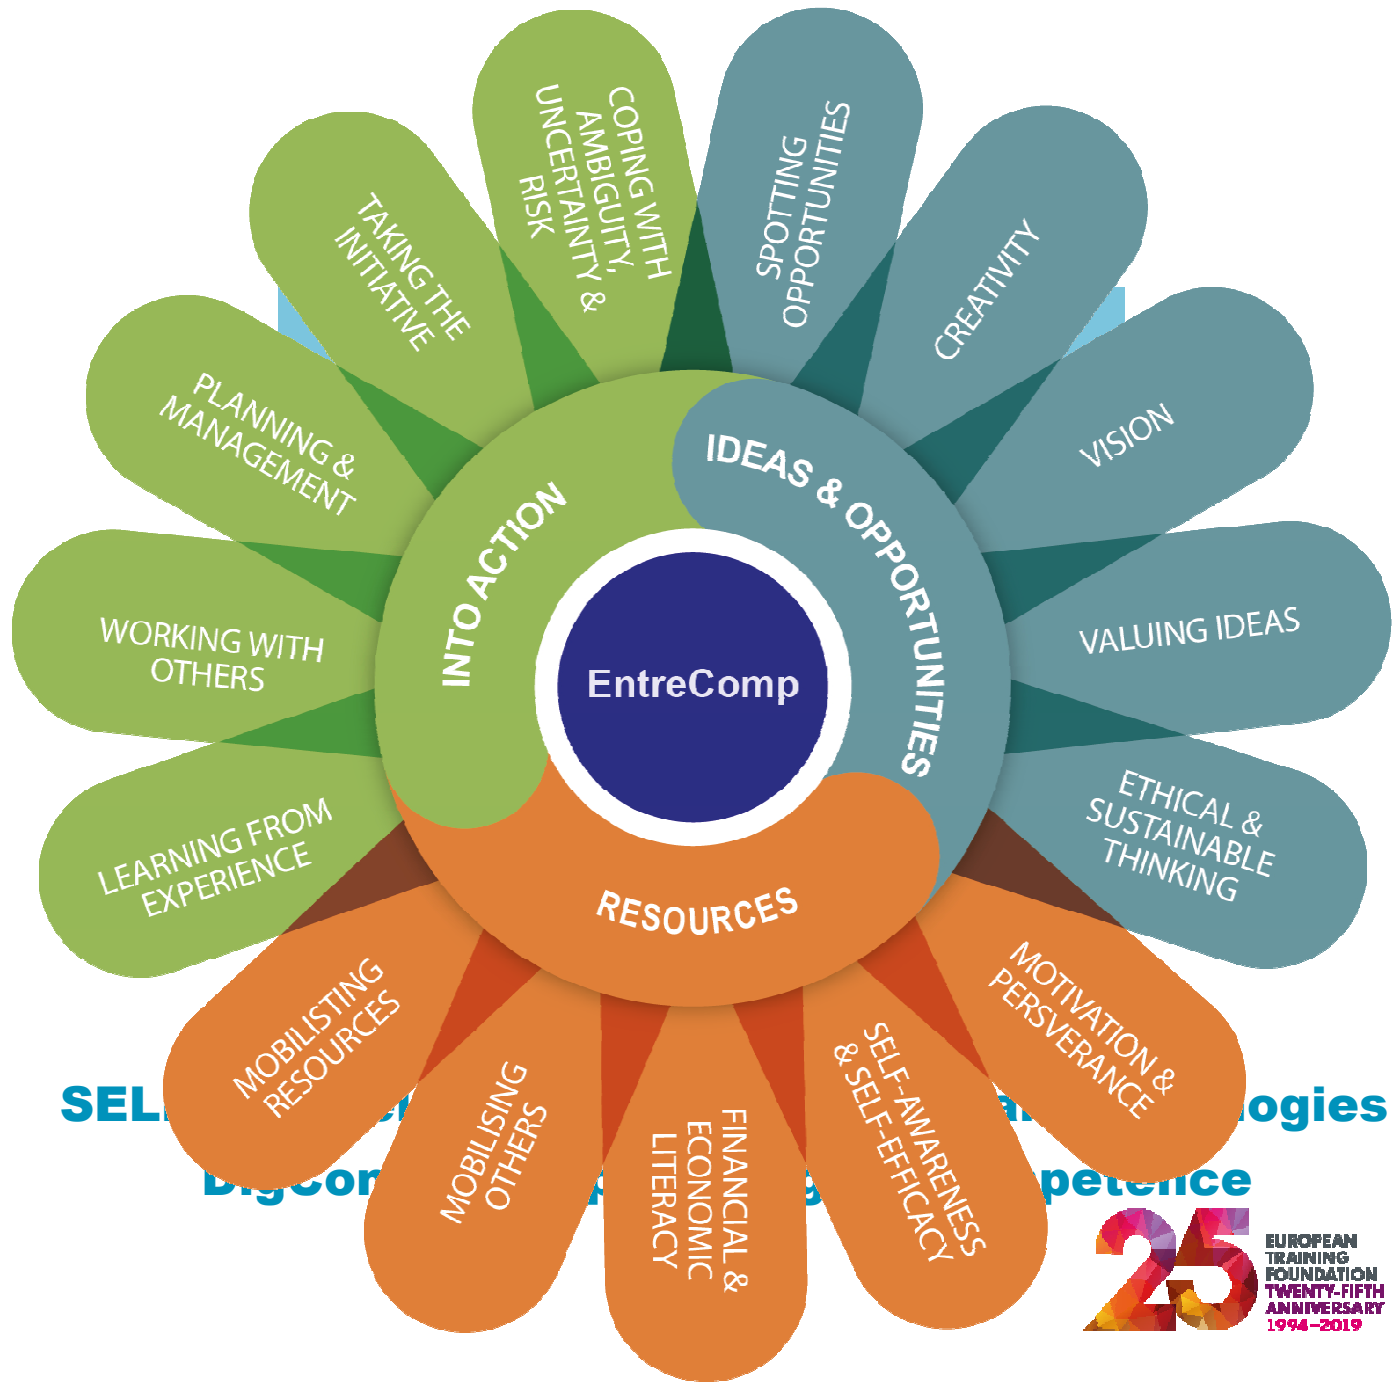

Teachers welcome a 'hands-on' mode of learning

Teacher-created digital content can complement a national programme

Teachers need support to use new technologies in their teaching.
