

This is not an ADB material. The views expressed in this document are the views of the author/s and/or their organizations and do not necessarily reflect the views or policies of the Asian Development Bank, or its Board of Governors, or the governments they represent. ADB does not guarantee the accuracy and/or completeness of the material's contents, and accepts no responsibility for any direct or indirect consequence of their use or reliance, whether wholly or partially. Please feel free to contact the authors directly should you have queries.

Jobs and skills of the future

Trisha Suresh
Public Policy Manager

17 January 2022

ADB Education Sector Retreat

LinkedIn's Economic Graph

Through mapping every member, company, job and school, LinkedIn can spot trends like talent migration, hiring rates, and in-demand skills by region. These insights help us connect people to economic opportunity in new ways.

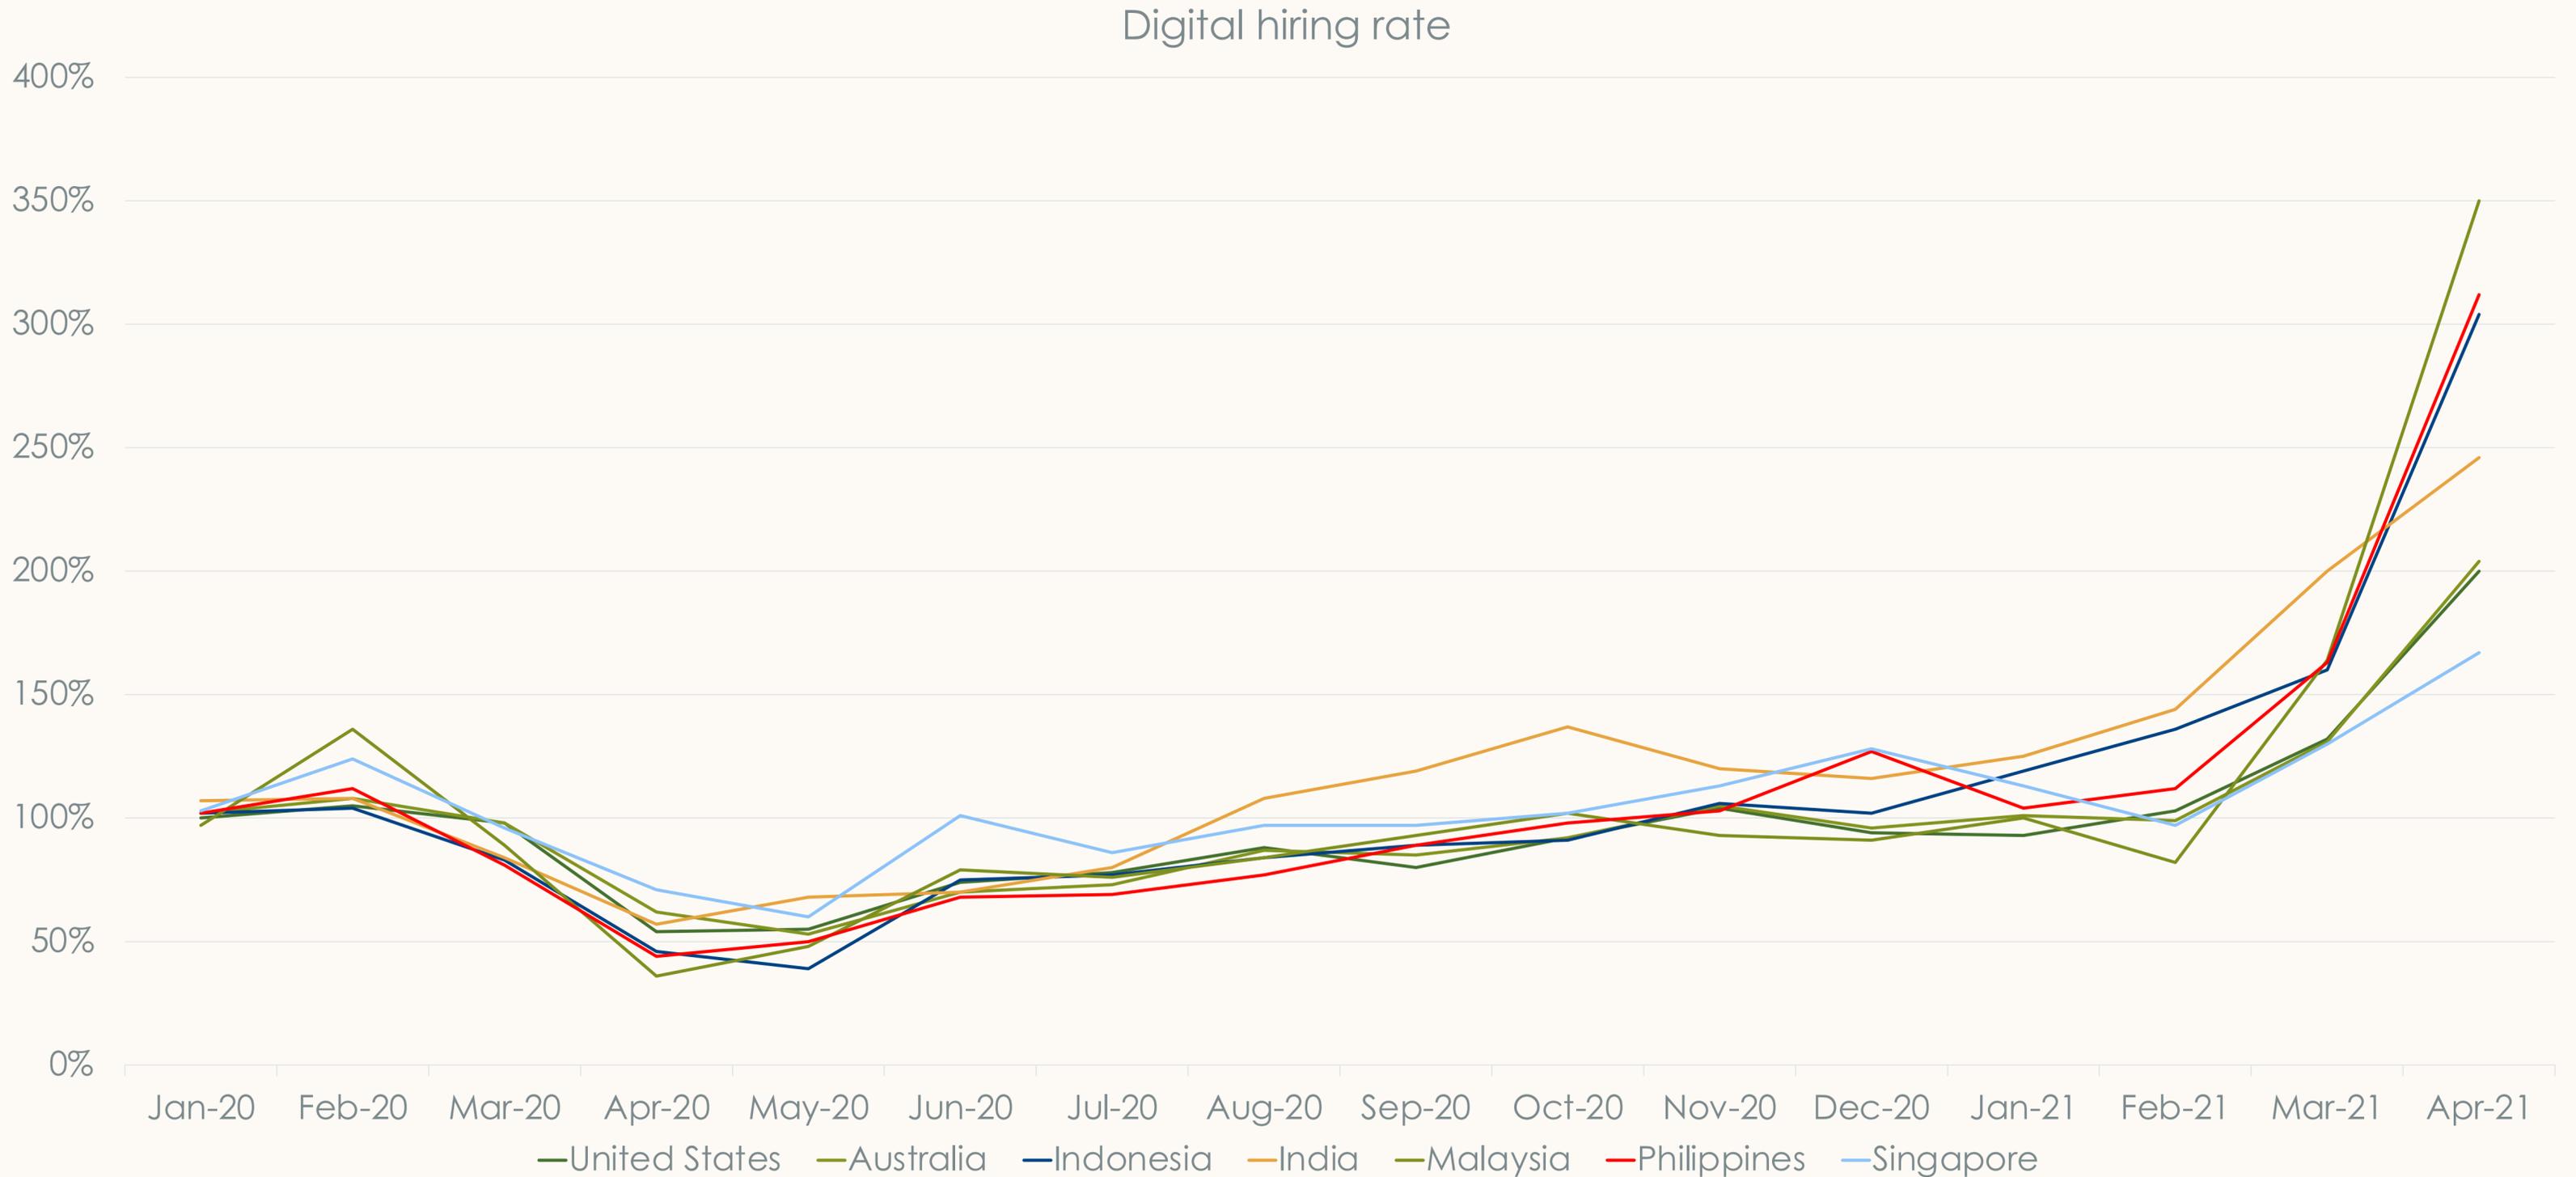

Jobs are changing and the skills needed to succeed will continue to evolve

25%

Change in skills for the same job between 2015 and 2021

Covid-19 has accelerated demand for digital skills

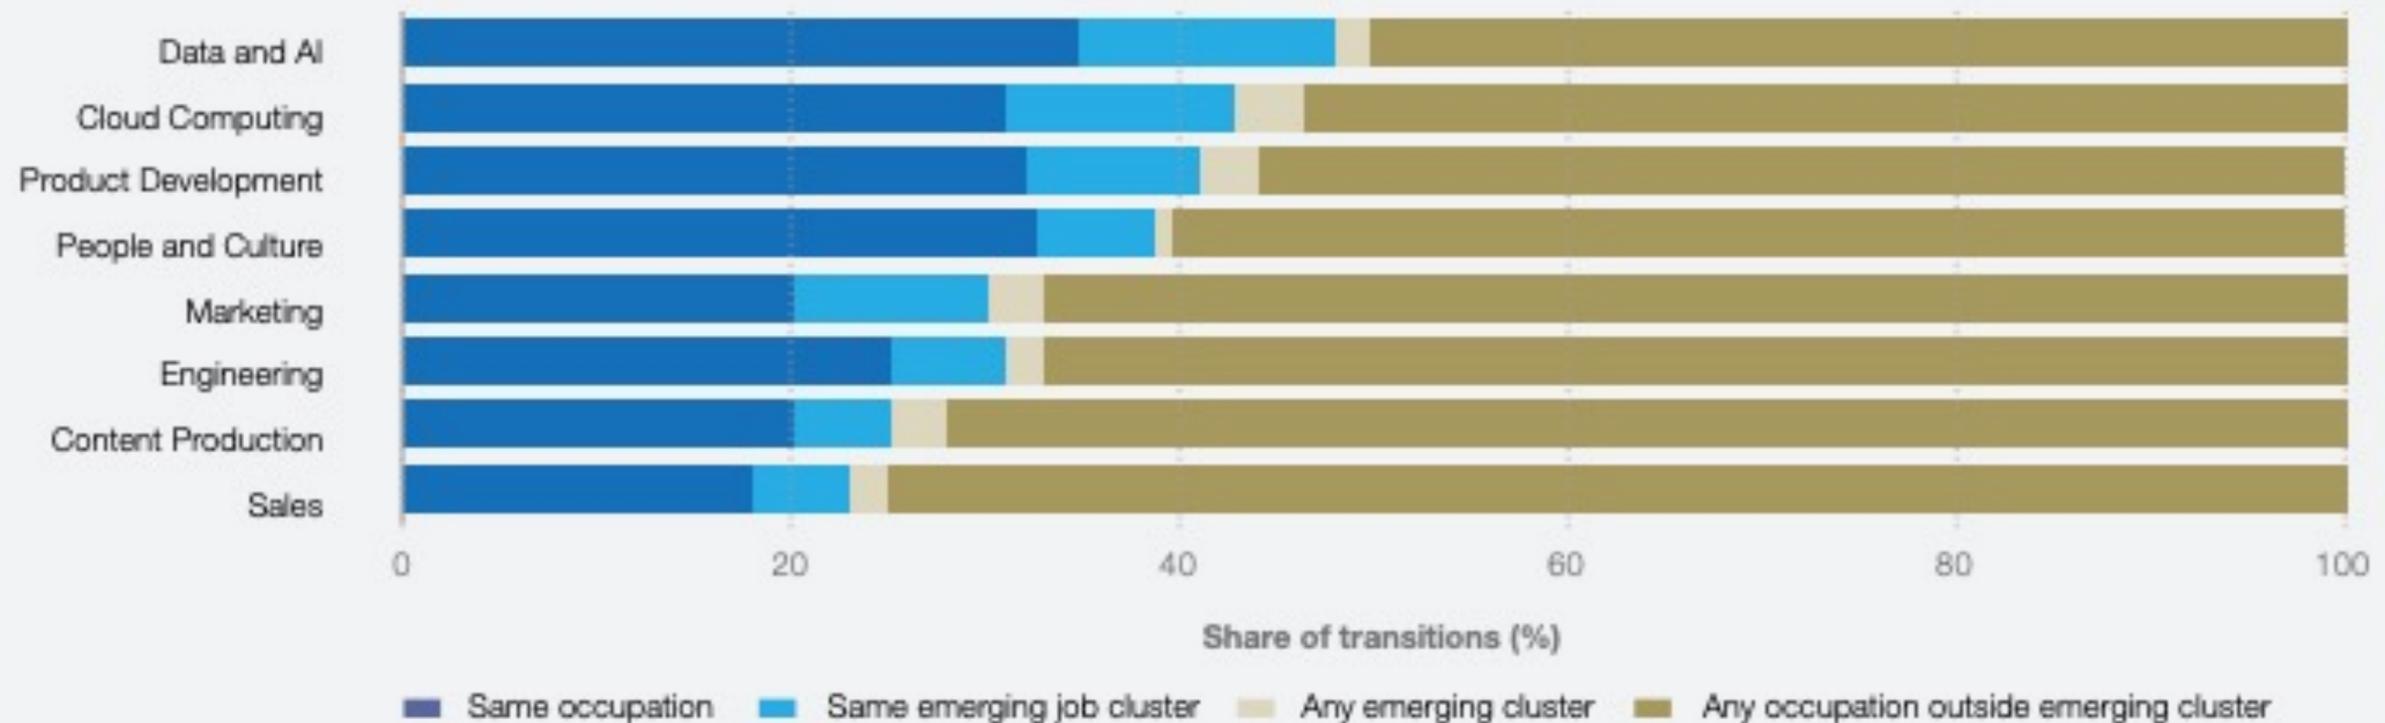

There are opportunities for people to pivot into new roles with their existing skills

FIGURE 24

Transitions and pivots into the jobs of tomorrow, selected countries

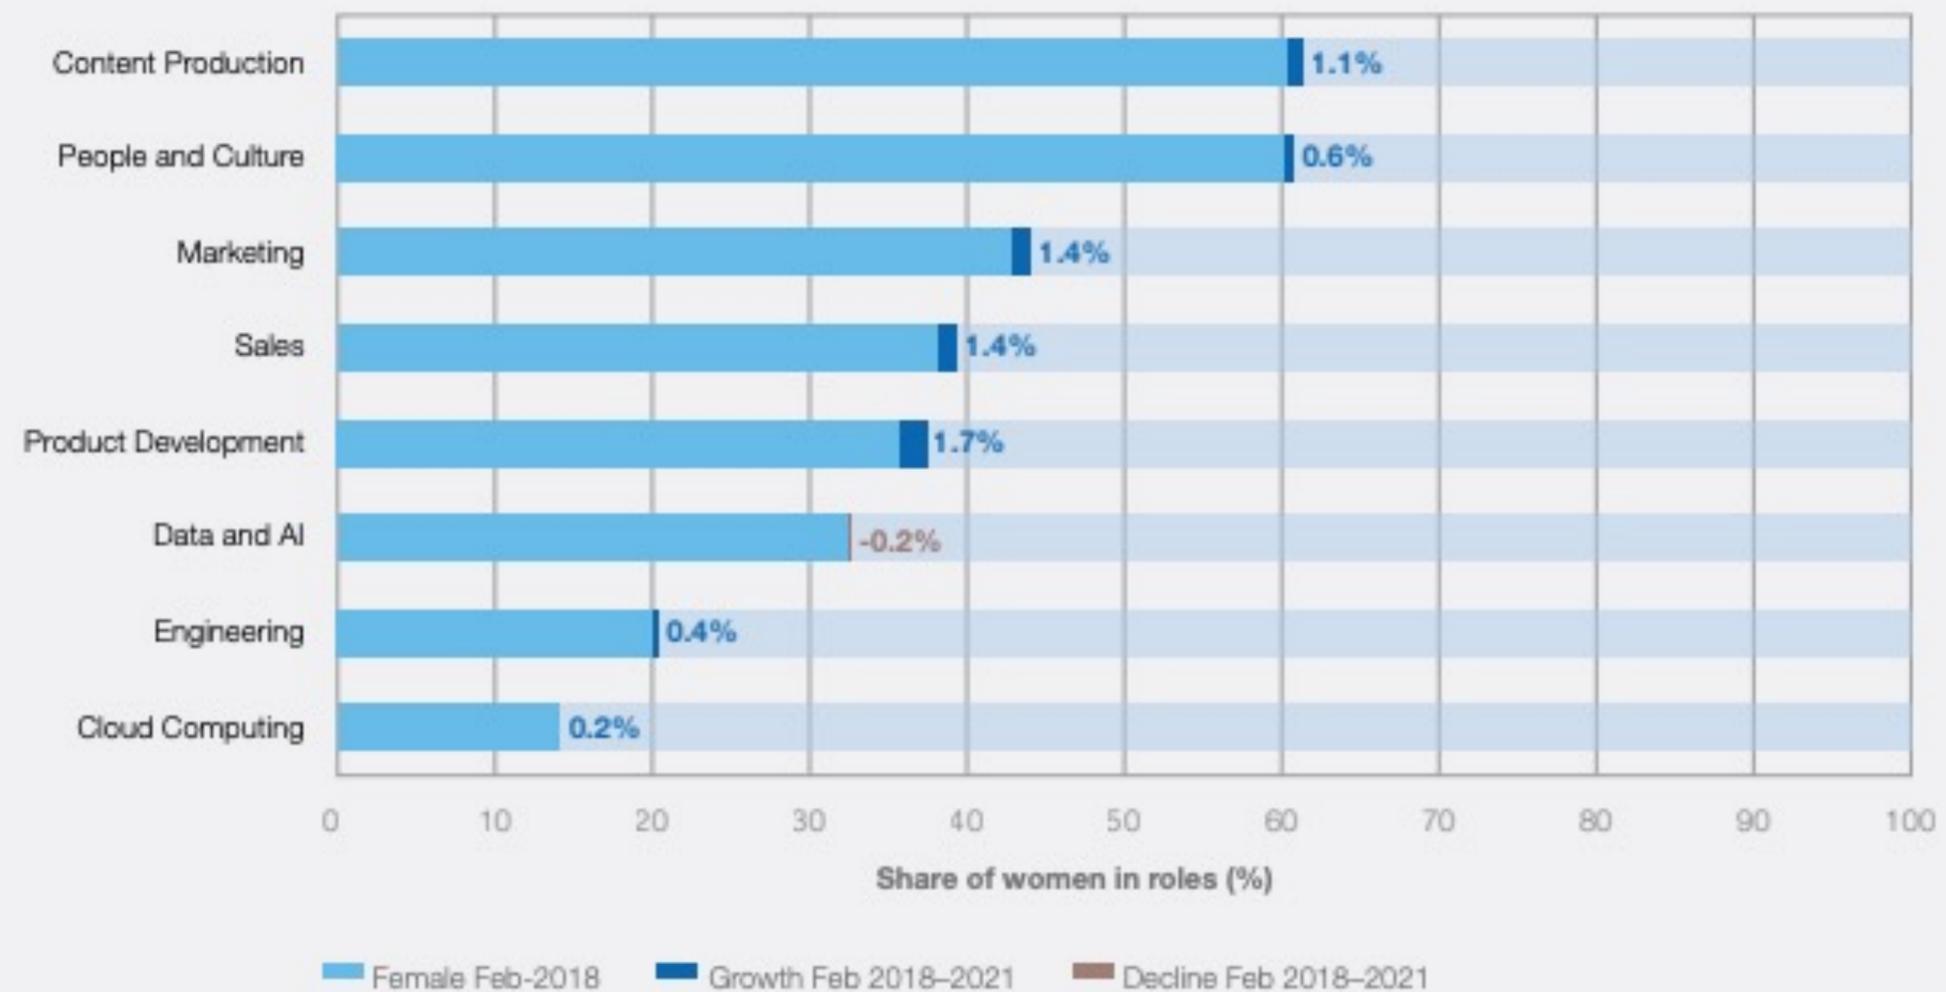

A. Transition by occupation and job cluster of source occupation

Gender gap in digital jobs are growing

FIGURE 3.2

Change in gender composition of emerging jobs, February 2018–February 2021

Thank you

References

- LinkedIn's Future of Skills data tool
- LinkedIn's Career Explorer data tool
- Our Chief Economist Karin Kimbrough's blog for global insights
- Our APAC Lead Economist Pei Ying Chua's blog for APAC insights
- Collaboration with APEC: Closing the Digital Skills Gap Report 2020
- Collaboration with WEF: Future of Jobs Report 2020
- Collaboration with WEF: Global Gender Gap Report 2021